Attention: Teacher Aides/Parent Helpers

Do you want to gain a nationally recognised qualification as a Teacher Aide?

Australian Catholic University is again conducting a course for those working as teacher aides or volunteering in schools: it is the Certificate III in Education Support.

This course comprises face-to-face study days, on a Monday, held at the University in Fitzroy. Participants will also be required to conduct in-school trialling and complete between-session homework.

The course will start in late July and finish in April 2015.

Subjects you would study include:

- Support the development of literacy and numeracy skills
- Support the development of numeracy skills
- Support students with additional needs in the classroom
- Provide support to students with autism spectrum disorder
- Work effectively with people with a disability

We also offer a pathway into the Bachelor of Education (Primary or Early Childhood).
