Social skills for children

by Michael Grose - Australia’s No 1 parenting educator

As parents we often focus on the development of children’s academic skills and quite easily neglect the development of important social skills, which contribute so much to children’s happiness and wellbeing. School brings different types of learning, including social interactions and how to make friends. Parents can lay the foundations at home by teaching their kids these 7 important social skills.

Teen Time

by Michael Grose - Australia’s No 1 parenting educator

Teenagers need their parents more than at any other stage, yet too often they are left to their own devices. It’s time to turn conventional wisdom on its’ head and start dedicating more rather than less time to raising teens. That way we’ll go a long way to giving them what they need, that is, parental guidance, management, nurturance and support to help them safely negotiate the twists and turns of the developmental journey from childhood into adulthood.
